The Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team Model

What does this program do?

This program helps improve team effectiveness and productivity in organizations that apply tools based on Carl Jung's theory of psychological types, like the MBTI® instrument¹, as their preferred indicator of behaviors and personality.

Teams will examine how they score on the key components of Trust, Conflict, Commitment, Accountability, and Results, as well as understand how each team member's unique personality style brings value to the team's overall success.

A productive, high-functioning team:

- ▶ Makes better, faster decisions
- ▶ Taps into the skills and opinions of all members
- ▶ Avoids wasting time and energy on politics, confusion, and destructive conflict
- ▶ Avoids wasting time talking about the wrong issues and revisiting the same topics over and over again because of a lack of buy-in
- ▶ Creates a competitive advantage
- ▶ Is more fun to be on!

The program includes:

- ▶ Assessment: 3 sets of questions address the individual's personality, the team behaviors, and team culture
- ▶ Individual Profiles, Team Progress Reports, and one-on-one Comparison Reports
- ▶ Participant handouts, take-away cards, and activities

Summary of Your Team Survey Results

Your assessment scores indicate that all five behaviors are potentially at risk.

Building Vulnerability-Based Trust

Sometimes it's during the process of coming clean about weaknesses that the biggest breakthroughs happen among team members. Giving people as much information as possible about who a person is and why this person might act the way he or she does will greatly reduce the likelihood of other judgments. Understanding your personality type can help you gain insight and empathy, qualities that allow a team to build trust. You can see descriptions of all 16 types on page 37 of the agenda.

Personality Dimensions

There are four dimensions that impact your personality type, and you will see this year and repeatedly when you tend to be most comfortable on each continuum. Level of comfort may change, knowing this, we can predict your probable comfort.

Your Team and the Dimensions

Below you will find more information on the Extroversion-Introversion and Sensing-Intuition continuum. For both, you can see where you and each of your team members fall out of 20.

Extroversion-Introversion

The mode of our personal energy and the attitude we have toward others is expressed in the Extroversion and Introversion continua. Extroverts tend to be more outgoing and make relationships more comfortable than those who prefer Introversion. Introverts tend to wait for someone to make the first move and then to respond to that move.

Sensing-Intuition

A Sensing preference needs individuals to pay attention to the tangible realities of the past or present. An Intuition preference invites someone to take attention to a vision of the future. Someone with a Sensing preference is likely to want to know if there is a real payoff, even, while for someone with an Intuition preference, a promise of the future can get things into motion.

Individual Profiles provide a complete picture for the individual and the team.
